COYNE FURNITURE COMPANY

A RIVAL TO THE MORNING ORGAN

It Turns By Hand And Operator Seeks Admission

The Advertiser, which for so long a time has posed as the "morning organ," should look well to its laurels. A rival threatens to invade what has heretofore been considered a virgin field of endeavor.

The sole owner of a full-fledged, copper-riveted noise producer in the presence of a hand organ, is desirous of casting his lot with the city and county of Honolulu and incidentally add to the gaiety of the rainy season by the distribution of machine-made canticle and lyric.

The hand organ has long since been a recognized factor in musical circles of Kalamazoo, Kankakee or Bird Center, Illinois. Over here in the Paradise of the Pacific, where one is supposed to be happy all the time and live in peace with a fellow man, frolicsome humanity has sort of worried along with the amusing efforts of the morning paper in its attempts to run the police department or its futile efforts to convince a thoughtful public that the American flag is "slush."

The threatened infliction hails from New Zealand. The man responsible for putting his aspirations upon paper has forwarded the communication to one of the governmental departments, and it was received in the mail which arrived yesterday by the Aorangi. Notwithstanding the sixty odd years that the writer claims to have encumbered the earth, he has not repented the error of his way but that he would much like to try the persuasive eloquence of hand organ melody upon the unsophisticated of Honolulu. He states in his communication that he has been a sufferer for years from cramps, but does not state just what effect resonant chords ground out from the barrel organ would have upon the innocent public of this fair city. The letter is quite convincing and speaks for itself. The applicant writes:

The undersigned, who was naturalized at San Francisco, California, in 1878, and served and was honorably discharged from the U. S. Marine Corps at Mare Island, year 1880, on account of ill health, and who left America in 1890 and traveled about on business in Mexico, South America, Europe, South Africa, Tasmania, Australia and New Zealand during the years 1890-09, and who is eking out a living as an organ grinder, and who would like to reside at Honolulu, to grind an organ for a living if there is no objection, or do some other honest livelihood if it pays better, and as he has not resided within the sphere of the U. S. since 1890 and as the new law expatriated naturalized citizens of the U. S., who stayed away over 5 years, and as I am 66 (no longer young) and troubled off and on with rheumatism, and cramps and the cold weather in New Zealand not agreeing with me, I would like to go to Honolulu, etc. I would like to know if I would be allowed to land and reside at Honolulu or elsewhere within the U. S. Realm where it does not freeze—desires information whether aged people who formerly resided in America and who eke out a living by playing a music box in the streets, desires to know whether he would be allowed to land at Honolulu and play the organ on the streets, and during what hours allowed to play outdoors, and whether one must have a permit or a license for playing an organ, and what the permit or license costs. I have sufficient means to support myself when ill. If you do not know, please inquire and advise me when you are at leisure.

What is the population of Honolulu and other towns in Hawaii?

MAY ESTABLISH WHOLESALE HOUSE

The National Grocery company, one of the largest grocery companies on the mainland, may establish one of their houses in Hawaii in the near future. As an initial step towards doing so, D. E. Dunbar, the special representative of this grocery company, has been in Honolulu during the past week and while here appointed a local man as permanent agent for Hawaii.

According to the agent, the National Grocery Company hopes to build up a large patronage here and in case they do will secure a building for the storage and display of the company's goods.

An extensive advertising campaign will soon be started in order to familiarize local people with the goods handled by the company.

Mr. Dunbar, with his wife, who accompanied him here, departed last night by the Aorangi for Seattle.

AORANGI MAKES FINAL TRIP

More Modern Steamer Will Supplant Her

A larger and much more modern liner will be substituted on the Sydney-Suva-Honolulu-Victoria run by the Canadian-Australian Steamship Company.

The old reliable Aorangi, which has been making regular visits to Honolulu for a dozen years or more, is to be taken off the present run with the completion of this trip.

The officers of that vessel were unable to state yesterday just what liner has been selected to take the place of the Aorangi.

It is believed that the new vessel will be one of several crack liners now being operated by the Union Steamship Company of Australia. This line and the Canadian-Australian Company are more or less closely allied in their passenger and freight traffic agreements.

It is understood that the vessel will be in many instances similar in accommodation and equipment as the steamers Makura and Marama now operating between the Commonwealth and Canada.

The officers connected with the Aorangi are well liked by the traveling public and the shipping people of Honolulu with whom they come in frequent contact. Whether Commander J. D. S. Phillips and his efficient and obliging staff will be transferred to the new liner no one on board the Aorangi was prepared to state positively.

The Aorangi arrived from Sydney, Brisbane by the way of Suva yesterday afternoon with six passengers and quite an extensive cargo. There was a quantity of refrigerated provisions for Honolulu, including 500 carcasses of mutton, consignments of whisky and liquors, 1,465 sacks of amonia, 705 legs lamb, 150 cases of butter and sundries.

Purser Coxall reports a fine trip up from Australia. The vessel carried one hundred and five through passengers in the various classes. Owing to the extensive shipments of cold storage meats the steamer failed to leave at 9 o'clock last night as advertised, and it was after midnight before the lines were cast off at Bishop wharf and the steamer proceeded to Victoria.

A dozen passengers were taken on at Honolulu. A few tons of general cargo was also forwarded.

MIXED CASES AT POLICE COURT

Judge Andrade presided at the Police Court this morning and A. M. Brown acted as prosecuting attorney. The case against Leong Lam who was charged with selling opium was finished in short order and a fine of $50 and $1.20 costs ordered.

F. Remillard, who was arrested yesterday on a charge of assault and battery, was discharged, owing to the fact that the prosecuting witness would not testify against the accused. Time after time this sort of thing occurs, and Judge Andrade is getting very tired of that sort of work.

The six gamblers who were arrested yesterday afternoon at the pineapple cannery, were up before the bench, and five of them were found guilty and fined seven dollars each; the sixth man was acquitted, as he claimed that he was working at the time of the raid, and that he was not present at the game.

John Wing, who was charged with selling malt extract, was defended by Attorney Strauss, who advised his client to plead guilty. Wing did so and Judge Andrade, on the suggestion of Inspector Fennell, passed a suspended sentence of thirteen months.

A quartet of illicit lovers who were apprehended at a notorious Japanese hotel last night, faced the music this morning at the police station. The two male defendants were soldiers from Lilehua, and the other parties were the loving spouses of other men.

Judge Andrade sentenced Mary Williams to three months at the Asch hotel, and handed Mrs. Gouveia a $30 fine with costs. The two cavalymen got off with suspended sentences of thirteen months.

Two young men who have been remanded from time to time on a charge of robbing a Chinaman at Kalihi, appeared once more this morning. One of them, Thomas Richards, was committed to the Circuit Court, and the other, Antone Phillips, was discharged, there not being sufficient evidence against him.

JASON ANDRADE WITH SILVA'S TOGGERY

Jason Andrade, for many years one of the popular clerks of the clothing establishment of M. Melacny, has joined the staff of Silva's toggery, the up-to-date and aggressive King street haberdashery. Mr. Andrade has a wide circle of friends who will be pleased to note his continued success and all of whom he will be pleased to meet at his new place of business.
